

U.S. Envoy and Gromyko Hold Another Chat

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, with new instructions from Washington, conferred for three hours today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko about Berlin.

The ambassador, when he came out of the session, was asked how the talk went and replied: "I can't say a thing."

Asked if there would be more meetings, he said: "I anticipate there will be, but no date has been set."

Asked if he were more optimistic, Thompson said: "It is not right to judge these things."

He declined to say whether the two had talked about the recent Soviet memorandum to West Germany.

Thompson will fill in his British, French and West German colleagues Saturday.

Bullet-ridden Body Found, Murder Ruled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
By BOB MYERS

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP)—The bullet-ridden body of Thurman McCool, central figure in a sensational 1956 case involving forgery of $55,079 in state warrants, was found in a car on a rural road near here Thursday.

Coroner Russell Newby ruled that McCool was murdered, apparently by someone who sat on the seat beside him and fired six .45 caliber bullets into his body.

No gun was found.

McCool, 48, pleaded guilty in the warrant forgery case and was sentenced to five years in prison in 1956. He was paroled Aug. 7, 1958, and Gov. Orval E. Faubus restored his citizenship rights Nov. 6, 1960.

McCool's body found frozen in the car by Wesley Hale, who was hunting rabbits in the rural area off U.S. Highway 270, about 2 1/2 miles east of Sheridan.

The car was parked in a cemetery.

Snow around the car was undisturbed, indicating that the slaying took place before a snow storm began Monday night, Sheriff Vernon Hope said McCool was last seen at 1:30 p.m. Monday in Sheridan.

He had been the object of an intensive search since he left Pine Bluff Monday on a business trip to England and never arrived there.

Hope said McCool may have been carrying a large sum of money. He was a partner in a business machine company and a printing company.

The theory that he was shot by someone inside the car was based on the fact that the body was slumped over the steering wheel and the bullets were lodged in the left front door.

McCool was in the office supply business, the same kind of work he was doing when the forgery was uncovered in 1956.

Survivors include his widow, one son and two daughters.

FIRE KILLS BABY — A LONE FIREMAN pours buckets of water into the still smoldering ruins of an apartment house in Little Rock, Ark., which burned a two-year-old baby to death. The child's mother, and two other children, escaped with other residents of the apartment. — NEA Telephoto

BAY FREEZES OVER — FOR THE FIRST time in 62 years, Galveston Bay, off Texas City, froze over up to 150 yards off shore when the bitterest cold wave in 30 years hit the normally semi-tropical Gulf Coast. An unofficial 12 degrees was reported when this picture was made from the north side of the Texas City dyke, looking northeast into Galveston Bay. — NEA Telephoto

WHERE ICE SLIDE HIT — THIS FILE photo shows a group of Peruvians standing where a tourists' hotel once stood that was destroyed under tons of rocks during a waterslide on Dec. 13, 1941. This area, around Huascar, was the scene of another disaster Jan. 10, 1962 when a wall of ice thundered down the slopes of towering Mt. Muascan and devastated six mountain-side villages, burying more than 3,000 persons. Ice was piled up in a mass 40 feet high and one-half mile wide at the bottom of the slide. In the 1941 slide, 5,000 persons were killed or were among the missing. — NEA Telephoto

Railways to Talk Over Merger Plan

By ROGER LANE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads came to grips today with the knotty dollar-and-cents phase of their plan to merge.

Directors of the nation's two largest rail systems gather separately to consider, and probably decide on, financial terms of the proposed union. Nearly $5.5 billion assets are involved.

The terms, a tightly held secret, were developed for an eight-man Pennsylvanian Central negotiating team by three large investment banking houses over 60 days of intensive study.

Even if the respective boards agreed to the proposed corporate marriage and contract formidable and time-consuming problems still would strew the path to consummation.

The joint decision, by Pennsylvanian Central directors in Philadelphia and Central directors in New York, was expected to affect two other pending major railroad merger proposals.

With the Central's future bound firmly to the Pennsylvanian, the Central would have no reason to press fights against union of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio railroads, and Norfolk & Western expansion designs involving the Nickel Plate and Wabash railroads.

Postponed Talk on 'Ice Ages'

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP)—George Hayfield, an assistant professor of geology at Southern State College here, had to postpone a talk to a high school class because of the ice and snow.

His subject: "The Ice Ages."

Babies Die of Monoxide Poisoning

Two four- and a half-month old twins, Sherry Kay and Jerry Ray Evans died this morning in a local hospital apparently of monoxide poisoning. When found by their mother they were rushed to a local hospital where all efforts to revive them failed.

Dr. C. Lynn Harris, the family doctor and also coroner of Hempstead, said today the deaths were caused from monoxide poisoning from a butane gas stove. He said additional tests are planned but was confident they would verify his ruling.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Evans who live beyond Shover Springs. Mr. Evans is employed by the sanitation department of the City of Hope. The Evans' have three other children. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Oakcrest Funeral Service.

'Crutches' to Be Sold Downtown

Rainbow Crutch lapel tags, symbolizing the hope of aiding victims of disabling birth defects, arthritis and polio, go on sale on Hope street corners and elsewhere on Saturday, Jan. 13, for the 1962 new March of Dimes.

This was announced by Millie Flowers and Cookies Jones, TAP Chairmen, today. Sale of Rainbow Crutches is an important event in the annual campaign. These sales began when need for funds to conquer rampaging polio epidemics and their lingering paralytic effects was urgent.

"But this event is no less urgent today," the chairmen said. "Perhaps the need is even greater since the victims of birth defects and arthritis are more numerous in our communities."

Sale of the Rainbow Crutches is to be conducted by local teenagers. They will man posts at street corners, and try to cover the town.

Postoffice Bid

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Charleton J. Fincher of Dallas has been announced as apparent low bidder for construction of the Albert Pike post office station at Hot Springs. He offered to construct the building and lease to the Post Office Department for $8,227 a year.

Atlanta Coldest in 63 Years

ATLANTA (AP)—The coldest weather in 63 years brought new misery today to Southern states.

Winter overwhelmed the land of cotton and sunshine to the top of the Florida Peninsula where a mixture of sleet and freezing rain pelted Tallahassee. Fifteen degree readings in Pensacola set a record for January.

Air Rescue Teams Fly to Disaster Area

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Rescue planes flew into the Andes Valley of Huaylas 200 miles north of Lima today, where 3,000 to 4,000 persons are feared dead under an avalanche of ice, snow, rock and mud. The disaster virtually wiped out two villages and 14 settlements in eight minutes.

Before darkness Thursday, 50 bodies had been recovered. A doctor back from the stricken area said rescuers would have little to do but recover the dead — "there are no injured."

Only two planes were able to fly into Caraz, about 20 miles north of the disaster area, before dense fog and bad weather set in Thursday. But this morning, planes began a shuttle to carry in doctors, nurses, medicines, food and clothing for victims of Wednesday's tragedy.

The exact number of dead may never be known. Roberto Thorndike, chairman of the Peruvian Red Cross said initial estimates by representatives in the area put the number of missing at 2,300. The U.S. Ambassador James Loch, who flew over the area, reported estimates of 4,000 missing and presumed dead.

The village of Ranrahiria and 450 of its 500 people were buried under a mass of muck a mile wide and nowhere less than 12 feet deep.

The village of Huasacacho, said to have a larger population than Ranrahiria, also was reported to have disappeared under the huge slide. Officials said 14 smaller settlements were destroyed, and that none of the residents of seven of them had been found alive.

More than 7,000 persons lived in the ranching and mining valley, 9,000 feet up with the snowtopped peaks of the Cordillera Blanca looking down on them.

Volunteers struggled through quagmires of mud and melting ice to recover bodies that began to appear as waters of the Santa River began to recede. The avalanche swept hundreds of thousands of tons of debris into the river, swelling its waters and sending a torrent raging downstream. Dozens of bodies were recovered in Chibole, a port on the Pacific ore than 100 miles from Ranrahiria.

Many of the bodies recovered were mutilated beyond identification and were buried in a common grave.

Miss Brown Snuggles the President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Debbie Sue Brown snuggled up to the President today. Both beamed their approval.

President Kennedy, who has a little girl of his own, got on famously with 5-year-old Debbie Sue when she called at the White House as the National Poster Child for the 1962 March of Dimes.

Debbie Sue, wearing a red dress with white trim, snuggled up to the President. He patted her on the back, and commented: "She is a very good girl. She really does well."

The President wrote in Debbie Sue's autograph book: "With best wishes for the future." He also gave her a pen.

Debbie Sue was described by the National Foundation as symbolizing all victims who may benefit from its program to combat crippling diseases.

Debbie Sue was born with a spine difficulty. Surgery was performed when she was 8 months old.

Debbie Sue now can walk and ride a tricycle, but wears leg braces for corrective purposes. She was accompanied to the White House by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Brown of Clarkston, Wash.

Australia Will Fight to Keep E. New Guinea

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies in effect warned today that Australia would fight to protect East New Guinea should Indonesia expand its territorial ambitions beyond Dutch-held West New Guinea.

Menzies said Indonesia had several times given assurances it would not try to take West New Guinea by force and that it has no territorial ambitions in East New Guinea, which Australia administers as a U.N. trusteeship.

"We are reluctant to believe that threats of war now being made by the Indonesian government in breach of those assurances are to be followed by action," Menzies said in a statement after he and his Cabinet reviewed the New Guinea situation.

But Australia, he said, recognizes and will discharge its prime responsibilities for protecting the security of Australia and its territories. Arthur Calwell, leader of the opposition Labor party, has suggested that once President Sukarno gets control of West New Guinea, he will train his sights on the eastern half of the island.

Menzies expressed hope the Netherlands and Indonesia could settle their dispute through negotiation.

Indonesian naval officers in Jakarta said Thursday destroyers are being sent to the northern Celebes because of fears the Dutch aircraft carrier Karel Doorman may sail into West New Guinea waters. The Netherlands say the carrier is on a goodwill tour.

One of President Sukarno's top advisers, Dr. Johannes Leimena, was reported by Indonesian government sources to be making a secret tour of eastern Indonesia, bordering West New Guinea. Leimena is a native of Ambon, whose people are among the most warlike of the Indonesians, and his mission presumably is to whip up support for Sukarno's campaign to take West New Guinea.

Indonesia's ambassador to Canada, Dr. I. N. Palar, said in a speech at Ottawa Thursday that his country would seek help from Communist China or any other source — "even from the devil" — in its dispute with the Dutch.

The Cambodian government today publicly expressed support for Indonesia's claim but said it hoped the dispute with the Dutch could be settled peacefully.

100 mph Winds Lash Britain

In the wake of the winds came heavy rains which raised river levels.

Lawmen Cold to Standby Power

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's request for standby powers to cut income taxes in a recession got a chilly reception today from key congressional leaders.

Some House Ways and Means Committee Democrats, who did not want to be quoted by name, indicated they had no plans to take up the measure, which would involve a reduction of up to 25 percent in first bracket rates during a recession. The committee would have to originate the legislation.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., whose finance committee would have to consider it in the Senate, blasted the plan as a unconstitutional. Many Republicans assailed it.

The tax request, to be spelled out by the President Jan. 22 in his economic report to Congress, was by far the most controversial of his proposals aimed at keeping the economy moving upward. Other proposals dealt with the problems of hard-core unemployment and fighting inflation in boom times.

Several of these proposals are well advanced in Congress and seem likely to reach Kennedy's desk before Congress shuts up shop.

But it goes against the grain of most House members and senators who work on tax legislation. They say it would infringe heavily on one of the most cherished prerogatives of Congress—control of the revenues.

Some liberals who tend to favor the standby principle say they fear it would be relatively easy to lower the income tax rate but almost impossible to raise it back when the recession ended.

No New Cases of Measles Yet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas started the new year with an outbreak of measles.

The State Health Department's weekly communicable disease reports showed today that 158 cases of measles were certified in the first week of this year, compared to only two cases in the first week of 1961.

Chicken pox also was on the increase with 61 cases reported this year, compared to only 11 last year.

Some Relief From Severe Cold Promised

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The temperature fell to a surprising nine degrees below zero at El Dorado early today.

That's almost as cold as it's gotten anywhere in the state during the present cold wave — and just as a general warming trend appeared to be setting in.

In keeping with the topsy-turvy weather trend, the highest minimum recorded was 10 above at Harrison, often one of the state's coldest spots.

Officially the temperature low for the 24-hour period was four degrees below zero, a modern day record. The last time the mercury dipped that low was Feb. 2, 1951. The high for the period was 20 degrees.

The U. S. Weather Bureau apparently hadn't expected the El Dorado low or other below-zero readings in the state.

The bureau's forecast Thursday had been for overnight lows of from five to 15 above.

A bureau spokesman said he had no ready explanation for the El Dorado situation other than a cold air mass from above happened to settle in that area.

Other below zero readings included minus three at Fort Smith and minus four at Little Rock. Pine Bluff reported a reading of zero.

The Weather Bureau said it was going to get warmer in Arkansas today, and might even get up to freezing — 32 degrees.

The forecast was for fair with rising temperatures this afternoon tonight and Saturday with highs today from the low 20s to low 30s and lows tonight from zero to 12.

Saturday highs were expected to be between the mid-20s and mid-30s.

The effects of the bad weather are still with the state, though. Many water pipes remain frozen, some schools are closed, and highways are still dangerous because of the ice and snow, some of which hasn't melted. There was still a heavy load on the gas companies as they tried to keep homes, schools, hospitals and other vital buildings warm.

Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. continued its policy of supplying no gas to its 33 industrial customers, keeping the gas for home consumption.

Coffee Days for Dimes Start Today

Plans for the 1962 new March of Dimes Coffee Days aimed at raising funds to fight birth defects, arthritis and polio neared a boiling point today.

Mrs. Dean Murphy, said as she was appointed coffee chairman, by the campaign director, Lura Impson, coffee days are scheduled to start Jan. 12, throughout the county.

She added that many restaurants and super markets as well as drug stores and etc. will serve coffee all day without charge. Customers are to contribute the usual coffee price — or more — to the new March of Dimes for support of the National Foundation.

To start the Coffee Days in pouring, 12 and 13 Childs Food Store, 14, Ideal Cafe, 15 Joe's City Bakery, 16 Dean's Truck Stop, Barlow Hotel, 17 Perry's Truck Stop, Diamond Cafe, 18 Plaza Restaurant, Cox Drug Store, 19 and 20 Safeway Store.

The Coffee Chairman said that funds raised during the Coffee Day Sales will be added to the general drive ending Jan. 31. Financing is needed by the National Foundation for its three great disease-fighting weapons of medical research, patient aid and professional education.

Among those on Merit Scholarships attending the U of A are William Bright, Hope and James Chandler of Nashville.

The Bobcats will not go to Smackover for their district game tonight but will play Camden here Saturday night if the weather permits.

Veterans of World War I will not hold their regular meeting scheduled Sunday. Says Adjutant B. C. Hollis of Hope Barracks 539.

Did Just What the Others Did
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — L. A. Jackson, who tells other people how to keep their water pipes from freezing, said he woke up today to find water running under his house. A pipe had frozen and burst.
Jackson the engineer-manager of the municipal water department; admitted he had taken his own advice only partially.
The department suggested that all taps be left open a little.
Jackson said he had left some open, but not all.
"One I didn't open frozen" he said.
What did Jackson do?
"I did what everyone else does," he said. "I called the water department."

in El Dorado turned to heavy oils and process gas for fuel, freeing a large amount of natural gas for home use.

Most schools closed until Monday. Some reopened Thursday and Little Rock reported 46 per cent absenteeism.

Icy roads and frozen and burst water pipes troubled many people. The Fort Smith Water Department said 20 per cent of the homes in that city had frozen pipes.

A bursted sewage line closed schools at Newport.

Maximum temperatures Thursday were generally in the teens. The state's highest reading was 25 degrees at Harrison. The lowest reading Thursday morning was 11 degrees below zero at Gilbert in Searcy County.

The Pike County Memorial hospital at Murfreesboro had to use standby electric heaters Wednesday because of trouble with gas service connections. Pressure was restored Thursday.

Airlines and buses were operating in part of the state, but much of south Arkansas still was without public transportation. El Dorado reported no city bus service Thursday.

The Tuckerman school cafeteria was destroyed by fire Wednesday after a stove left on to keep the building warm became overheated, firemen said. The school will be closed until Monday.

Deep South Coldest in Many Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Deep South looked forward to a promised warming trend today as the thermometer began to inch back up from the lowest readings in years.

Overnight lows of zero or below were recorded for the second straight night in parts of the South, with the coldest temperatures in Mississippi, Arkansas and western Tennessee, where skies were clear.

El Dorado, Ark. in the southern part of the state, reported 3 below zero before midnight.

The Weather Bureau promised high temperatures in the 30s over Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and parts of Tennessee today—the highest daytime readings since up to eight inches of snow fell Tuesday and Tuesday night.

Some relief from nearly a week of frigid weather came to most of the snow-covered sections of the Midwest. And a warming trend was indicated for broad sections from the Rockies into New England.

The most significant temperature moderation in the Midwest was from the central and north-

Claims American Plane Shot Down

TOJYO (AP)—Communist North Viet Nam's Radio Hanoi today said a Laotian government plane "manned by three Americans" was shot down early this month by rebel Pathet Lao forces and the "three Americans died in the crash."

American pilots in Laos are employed by a firm named Air America which is hired by the Laotian government to fly helicopters and World War II cargo planes.

There has been no announcement from Vietnam, the seat of the pro-Western Laotian government, of any American airmen downed this month.

ern Plains states into the Upper Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes region. Readings were some 20 to 30 degrees higher than the near and below zero marks that had gripped the area for the past several days.

Higher daytime temperatures were predicted across a broad belt extending from Southern California through the south and central Plains states, Middle Mississippi Valley and southern Great Lakes into the Ohio Valley and Northeastern states.

The season's longest spell of cold weather was blamed for at least 130 deaths. These included 71 from overexertion while shoveling snow or pushing stalled cars, 23 to exposure and 36 in traffic accidents on icy or snowy streets and roads.

In the South, most of the roads which had been closed due to the storm were reported open again Thursday, but many were still treacherous with patches of ice and hard-packed snow. Police continued to discourage unnecessary travel.

Sleet and freezing rain fell on the coastal plains of South Carolina, Georgia and northern Florida, causing a main New York-to-Florida route, U.S. 17, to be shut.

In Alabama, the Highway Patrol winked at a violation of state law so three trucks could haul gas from Demopolis to Dothan, where gas pressure had dropped sharply. The trucks had no license tags, but orders went out to highway patrolmen to let them pass.

A gas company spokesman said the pressure drop was caused by the unprecedented demands of gas heating systems trying to keep buildings warm during the cold wave. Schools closed early Thursday and remained closed today to conserve the fuel.

In Texas, a county agent said the grapefruit crop in the Lower Rio Grande Valley may be lost because of the sub-freezing temperatures.

Heavy snow hit a five-county area in northwest Lower Michigan while light snow powdered areas from the Dakotas across Minnesota and northeast Iowa into Wisconsin and northwestern Michigan and in upper New York state.

In the West, one of the coldest spots was in southern New Mexico which reported near zero temperatures. Unseasonable cold also was reported across southwestern Arizona.

Monotony of Life Making Wife Unhappy

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Why can't our husbands understand that variety is the spice of life, for their wives, as well as themselves?

I love my home, husband and children very much but day in and day out it's the same old treadmill: up at six A.M. dress myself and the kids; get breakfast, get them off to school and my husband to work; do the dishes, clean house, make the beds; cook lunch for the children, take them back to school; market; start dinner; set the table; change my clothes (I like to look pretty evenings); see that the kids are cleaned up for dinner; get a peek of a kiss from my husband when he comes home; put dinner on the table while he reads the paper (he's the silent type, seldom talks at meals). He watches TV while I clear the table and do the dishes, then says good night; I put the kids to bed and go myself.

If my husband is bored he saunters down to the corner bar for a game of cards with the boys but I've got to stay with the kids. I would enjoy a little adult conversation once in awhile. What can I do to change my life?—Bored Stiff

Dear Bored Stiff: So long as you have a growing family and home to tie you down, your only hope is to develop interests which fit within this framework. Develop a creative hobby such as raising flowers, adventuring with fancy desserts, dressmaking, reading or study the piano.

My mother's hobby was perfume making. Through it she acquired a new and interesting lot of friends: chemists, glass bottle manufacturers, label designers, synthetic and essential oil distillers and amateur perfume makers like herself. Since she seldom went out, most of them came to see her and exchanged ideas.

Of course, you shall have to budget your time and practice your hobby after the day's work—unless it be dessert cookery or flower-growing. These your children might share with you.

If your husband is a reader, you and he might sign up for a Great Books' evening course. You can find the time if you have the will. The late Allan Ardwell, a friend of many years, decided when a grown man, to study the piano. As senior partner in the law firm which handled the J.P. Morgan business, life was already crowded for him. He solved the problem of time by setting the alarm clock half an hour earlier each morning and devoting this extra half hour to piano practice. He became a better than average musician. Believe me, the joy of life lies in the doing. Try it and you'll never be bored again.

Dear Helen: I am an 18-year-old boy whose cousin, a pretty woman, with a husband and two kids, makes passes at me! Lately, she's taken to coming to my home and nagging me to step out with her. My girl friend's father and mother heard about this and questioned me. I hated to tell them the truth so said it was just gossip, which it isn't. What shall I do?—S.J.

Dear S.J.: Tell your cradle-snatching cousin she's old enough to know better. And, if you care at all for the opinion of your girl friend's parents, give them the absurd truth straight from the shoulder—you're the pursued. Smile when you do so and they'll see the humor of this.

Dear Helen: Any girl marrying a Serviced man better sit down and ask herself if she has the courage to be a wife who stands alone more often than not in a strange town, far from husband and family.

I lived Navy 20 years, all over the country, never once near my family. My husband was at sea from two weeks to 26 months. But when he came home I could hold my head high, knowing I never once stepped off the straight and narrow path. I have met hundreds of Service men's wives and believe me, most of them were faithful but there were a few who gave the rest of us a hard time.

In some cities where I lived, Service men's wives were looked upon as practically call girls. Those responsible for lowering our status would have run around regardless of whether their husbands were home or not. It was just the nature of the critters. In their way some really loved their men. One I remember, lost her husband at sea and was inconsolable, seeing in his death, God's punishment for her wrong-doing. As I say, it takes courage to be a Navy man's wife. Look at the

Can a shirt make a happy man? Yes, this wash-'n'-wear shirt can—and does—with thanks to his thoughtful wife for choosing the right collar style and size.

Laotian Red to Attend Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Laotian Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao army, has agreed to go to Geneva for a new cold facts first. —Retired Navy Wife

Dear Retired Navy Wife: I take courage to cope with life, let alone matrimony, on any level. Writing this I am reminded of those lines from Browning's "Assault": "Fall to rise, baffled to fight better."

Earthquake Felt in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A strong earthquake shook Yugoslavia today, tumbling buildings and touching off landslides. The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said at least one person was killed and several injured.

Reports of shocks in short intervals lasting for an hour came from all parts of the country, Tanjug said. It said the center of the tremors was at Makarska, a resort on the Adriatic about 200 miles southwest of Belgrade.

Return of Congo Red Is Awaited

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo Parliament today awaited the return of Antoine Gizenga to explain charges that he has been trying to sever the northeast Congo from the rest of the country.

The leftist deputy Premier, in a sudden change of heart, agreed to leave his headquarters in Stanleyville after losing a test of his power there.

Stanleyville police, who have been his main military arm, reportedly defied his order to arrest Congolese Gen. Victor Lundula and members of a U.N. commission investigating the massacre last November of 13 Italian airmen.

This appeared a crucial blow to the Communist-backed deputy premier who tried to ride to power in the political cockpit of the slain Patrice Lumumba.

After challenging the Leopoldville government to come and get him, Gizenga changed his tune Thursday and sent a telegram from Stanleyville that he would return to the capital willingly.

Gizenga's clash with Lundula, once his staunch supporter, appeared the last straw in his effort to keep alive hopes of supplanting Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Gizenga joined the Adoula government as deputy premier last fall but remained in Leopoldville only three weeks. Since then he reportedly tried unsuccessfully to stir up a rebellion against the central government in Kivu Province and the Soviet bloc, which formerly supported him, has grown noticeably cool to him.

Officials Take Program to Canada

OTTAWA (AP)—A top team of U.S. Cabinet members, bringing details of President Kennedy's new trade program, arrived today for two days of talks with four Canadian ministers on how to expand trade ties with the European Common Market.

The U.S. delegation, led by Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, landed at Uplands Airport and was taken at once to the Parliament buildings for the annual meeting of the Joint Canada-United States Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs.

The U.S. administration is seeking wide powers to cut American tariffs as a means of reducing the tariff wall of the 6-nation European Common Market. Washington reports said the Canadian government would be asked to adopt a similar policy on reducing Canadian tariffs.

There has been no official Canadian reaction to this idea, but it is expected the Canadian government will want to see how far the U.S. Congress goes in granting President Kennedy his tariff requests before committing Canada to a policy of slashing its own tariffs.

With Dillon are Interior Secretary Luther Hodges, and Undersecretary of State George Ball, the U.S. State Department's chief expert on trade and economic affairs, and one of the main architects of President Kennedy's new trade proposals.

Table Rock to Get the Mail Anyway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Don't fret, Table Rock Lake, Mo. The mail will get through.

Your flood won't stop the mailman either, says a spokesman, even if the carrier has to arrive aboard a mule.

Table Rock Lake's plight came to the attention of the postal officials by way of a letter read into the Congressional Record Thursday by Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo.

A Missouri Chamber of Commerce suggested that the Post Office Department resort to the old Pony Express to deliver mail to Table Rock Lake, in the Ozarks because flooding from a dam project has stopped the mail truck from getting through.

The Pony Express suggestion didn't bother the Post Office Department. "A routine request," he said the department uses horses to deliver the mail on at least two dozen routes in rural areas of West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arizona and New Mexico.

"Matter of fact," he added, "we even have a mule-back route in the Grand Canyon—where not even a horse can make the climb—and we also use dog sleds in Alaska."

The Pentagon, headquarters of the Defense Department in Arlington, Va., has 3,666,886 square feet of floor space on five floors.

"What do you mean?" "The Americans worked stripped to the waist."

"So do Spanish laborers."

"That may be true, but there's an old law against it."

"Are they going to try him on these charges? Or keep him locked up indefinitely? And what is the British consul doing about it?"

"Oh Dennis can come out when ever he likes," Terry said. "The British consul's come to an arrangement with Don Julio. There are only two conditions. Dennis must apologize to the Marquesa. He said some shocking things to her you see when he was taken all work on the road."

"Nothing else?"

"No."

"And Dennis won't agree to those terms?"

Terry shook her head. "Not for an instant."

"I paid for our drinks. I'll have to try to see Dennis now. You'd better get on home."

"Yes, darling."

After she left, I walked down the narrow street which divided the village. My footsteps rang against the silence. There was an occasional rise of soft laughter from the dark houses and I could hear the muted sound of fishermen singing in the tiny bars along the beach.

The Marquesa's car was parked in front of the Administration building. I went into the stuffy anteroom where a policeman in a faded gray uniform sat at a desk beneath a large tinted photograph of Generalissimo Franco. He ushered me into Don Julio's office, where a pleasant but incongruous fragrance of roast chicken mingled with the layers of cigarette smoke. The Marquesa was seated in a black leather chair.

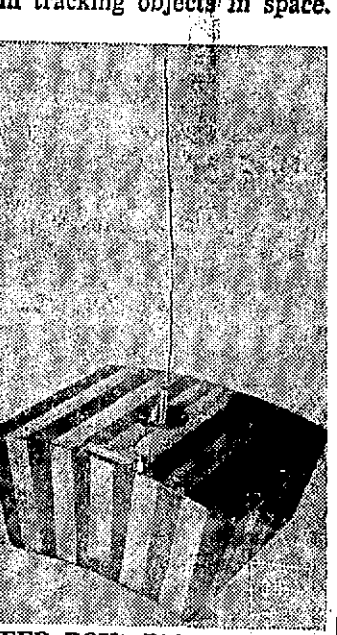

Don Julio came around his desk smiling. He was a spare, tidily aristocrat gentleman, with snapping black eyes and a meticulously trimmed white mustache.

I had once put Don Julio to a lot of trouble over customs technicalities, and therefore in his Spanish logic—he was in my debt. We gripped shoulders, shook hands warmly.

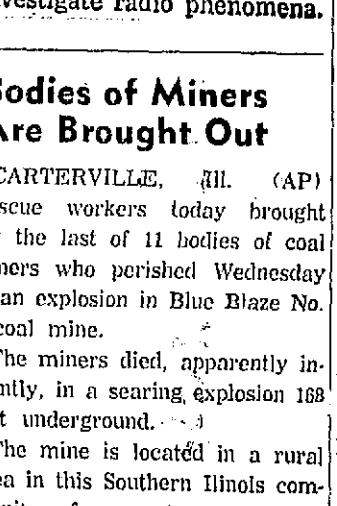

There was a wicker hamper beside the Marquesa's chair, and while Don Julio and I exchanged

THE STORY: Dennis Campbell has been plotting with Karl Hauffman, proprietor of the Edelweiss bar, in an effort to obtain labor for the road to The Snail, which Campbell is building.

Chapter XVII
I spent two weeks in the north of Spain, and a day and night in Biarritz, eating snails and playing roulette.

When I returned to Mirimar I was stunned to learn that Dennis was in jail.

Terry told me all about it.

"The Marquesa put him there," she said. "But it isn't altogether her fault."

We were sitting on the terrace of the Bar Central where I had arranged to meet her after Pamplona.

It was ten o'clock at night and I was exhausted from the long drive down to the coast from Burgos. But the breeze was fragrant with jasmine, and Spanish girls strolled about the plaza with their white skirts fluttering like moths in the darkness.

"Let's have the whole story," I said wearily. Tired as I was, I knew I'd have to see him before I went to bed. "What'd he do?"

"It was something about illegal labor—slave labor, almost."

I groaned. "Did he herd them around with a gun and whip?"

"No, it wasn't like that. Dennis invited several young men to use his villa. For several days they had a marvelous time. There was a great deal of food—sauerkraut, potatoes, spare ribs, that kind of thing."

"Who were these fatted calves?"

"Zoggy O'Neill, Sig Friedman, a few Belgians and Danes. They were all terribly poor, and they loved staying at the Snail and eating all the good food."

"Go on," I said, and put my head down on the table.

"This went on for a week. Then Dennis did the most shocking thing. He announced one morning that they must all work for their food. Karl Hauffman spoke to them, too. They were so used to being taken care of, they had no choice in the matter. They all had to go to work on the road."

"Good heavens!"

"Oh, it was quite a sight. When the Marquesa saw the gang of them at work, she immediately went to Don Julio. He arrested Dennis that very morning, and brought all the work to a stop."

"On what grounds?"

"It seems Dennis was breaking about 50 laws. None of his crew had work permits, for one thing, or health or accident insurance. And the construction of a road requires special permissions from Madrid. Also, in such projects, there must be a Spanish partner or representative. Last—but worst of all—he was charged with conspiring against public morals."

"What do you mean?"

"The Americans worked stripped to the waist."

"So do Spanish laborers."

"That may be true, but there's an old law against it."

"Are they going to try him on these charges? Or keep him locked up indefinitely? And what is the British consul doing about it?"

Porkers Meet TCU in Try for Comeback

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas Razorbacks try to clear the boards of two straight South-west Conference defeats tonight and get back on the winning ledger in a league game with down-trodden Texas Christian.

TCU also will be fighting to get out from under a bucket. The Frogs have lost 10 of their 11 games this season and are 0-2 in conference competition.

Arkansas will be favored in the 8 p.m. game in TCU's new coliseum, which seats 7,500.

The Hogs will go with the same five men that started through most of Arkansas' nine-game winning streak earlier in the season. They are 6-1 Jerry Carlson and Jerry Rogers at guards, 6-6 Tommy Boyer and 6-5 Larry Wolford at forwards and 6-6 Jim Wilson at center.

They have a common opponent with TCU. Arkansas beat Louisiana State 84-81 in overtime and LSU blasted TCU 83-58.

Arkansas was a favorite in the conference race until a loss to Texas and Tuesday night's 70-70 loss to SMU.

The Porkers will have to beat TCU to remain in the conference scramble, despite their enviable 9-3 record.

Carlton still leads Arkansas in scoring with 17.7 points per game. Boyer is second with 14.3.

TCU's starters will be 6-6 Phil Reynolds and 6-2 Tom Penick at guards, 6-4 John Fowler and 6-5 David Wannell at forwards and 6-9 Junior Alton Adams at center.

NCAA Plans to Battle Bribery

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association, programming the fifth day of its 56th convention, gave emphasis today to its differences with the Amateur Athletic Union, a television report, and a proposal for battling bribery and gambling in amateur sports.

Wilbur Johns, UCLA's athletic director and chairman of the NCAA's committee on AAU relations, prepared a review of past discussions with the AAU in the association's struggle to gain more representation and voice in the AAU. Johns' report appeared on the agenda in the wake of an NCAA council vote to endorse the creation of new federations in track and field and gymnastics as well as in basketball.

Jim Corbett, athletic director at Louisiana State University, was on the agenda to discuss plans for NCAA televising of football for next season. A two-year NCAA contract with the American Broadcasting Company will expire before the next football season, and a new one must be negotiated.

A special round table meeting was the arena set for presentation of association President Henry Hardt's report on a 16-point program to eradicate gambling and bribery. The NCAA council approved the program in New York last October and will submit the plan for endorsement by the full convention tomorrow.

Among today's program items also was a proposal that would bar all basketball competition outside NCAA events.

The council, policy-making body of the NCAA, completed consideration of infractions Thursday by slapping a three-year term on New Mexico State, mostly for football violations; a one-year basketball punishment on the University of Utah; and one-year football bowl restrictions on two small school members, Humboldt State of Arcata, Calif., and Whitmore College of Spokane, Wash.

Goalies Glen Hall of Chicago and Montreal's masked Jacques Plante were the chief factors in producing a thoroughly re-arranged National Hockey League standing.

Plante turned in 39 saves in an outstanding performance as Montreal reclaimed first place from Toronto, beating the Maple Leafs 4-2 Thursday night.

Hall came up with his fifth shut-out of the season, tops in the league in Chicago's 6-0 rout of hapless Boston. It pulled the Black Hawks into a tie for third place with idle New York.

AUTOMOBILE CABOOSE—Although U.S. railroads have long been transporting new cars on special double decker freight cars, only recently has one line begun experimenting with hooking them onto passenger trains. The B&O's "National Limited" is shown crossing the Thomas Viaduct at Relay, Md. These were new cars, but the railroad is studying the possibility of transporting train passengers' own cars, as is already being done in Europe.

NOVEL APPROACH—Judith Heiman, a New York bachelorette, has penned a first novel, "The Young Marrieds," that seems destined for best-seller lists. Oddly enough, unmarried Judith writes about married life. Here, she cuddles her pooch, Gertrude, as she ponders a tempting screen test offer.

FUN AND SUN—Looking pretty is a Jamaica avocation. That Tessa Prendergast is an expert in this "hobby" is evident as she poses at an ocean-side swimming pool on the north shore of the island.

Broncos Looking for New Coach

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Broncos of the American Football League are looking today for a head coach to succeed Frank Filchock, who was fired Thursday.

Filchock, former Canadian League coach who served the Broncos for two seasons, was bitter after his dismissal.

"They should have told me right after the season ended so I would have had a chance to get another job," Filchock said.

The Broncos won 3 of 14 league games last season and posted a 7-20 record with 1 tie for the two seasons in the AFL. Filchock is the sixth of the original eight coaches in the AFL to be fired.

Yankees Named Team of Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Yankees have been named The Associated Press' 1961 team of the year.

Ralph Houk's world baseball champions collected 255 points in the year-end balloting by 156 sportswriters and broadcasters to beat out the Green Bay Packers, National Football League title holders. Green Bay collected 213 in the poll, announced Thursday.

The Yankees won the American League pennant with a 109-53 record and finished eight games ahead of second place Detroit.

The Bombers slugged a record 240 home runs in the regular season, then thumped Cincinnati in five games in the World Series.

By the time Haas got back to the bus station, dozens of people—white and Negro—were clustered around the bus. They carried food, clothing and invitations for lodging.

Mrs. Johnson and Gwendolyn went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson, Negroes, (no relation) to spend the night. Negro residents of the community brought enough food for a banquet.

"There was fried chicken, corn, cold drinks, clothes for the little girl...you can't imagine it," said Mrs. Howard Johnson.

Barlow went to stay with a Baptist minister.

"That bus driver really deserves the credit, Haas said. "He didn't have to stay on that bus. There were rooms in white hotels."

Mrs. Johnson said she was never uncomfortable during her two-day stay on the bus. She said she was delighted with the care the bus driver had given her and Gwendolyn.

The bus was expected to leave here today, weather permitting.

Calhoun Knocked Out in First

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rory Calhoun, knocked out in 1:47 of the first round in his fight with up-and-coming James Ellis of Louisville, says he's quitting the ring.

"I want to announce my retirement," the 27-year-old New Yorker said Thursday night after Ellis floored him with two smashing rights. "First, I'm too big to be a legitimate middleweight. Next, I'm not big enough to be legitimate light-heavyweight."

Ellis, 21, had little trouble with Calhoun in their scheduled 10-round middleweight boxing match. Calhoun weighed 167 for the match and Ellis 164.

Ellis now has a 6-1 record. Calhoun is 45-15-2.

Penalty Is Harsh, Says Utah Fans

By JERRY MARTIN

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — "A one-year ban is a harsh penalty for something involving a student who isn't even on the team any more."

That angry comment from a cafe owner echoed the feeling of many fans Thursday as word spread of an NCAA penalty against the University of Utah basketball team.

Utah's dreams of post season gold and glory went aglimmering when the NCAA barred the team from holiday and playoff tournaments for a year because of financial arrangements involving a transfer student no longer in school.

The NCAA charged that the player failed to make payments on a $150 loan, got some pay for a part-time job he didn't actually earn and received free transportation from New York to Salt Lake City.

"The report... was not a complete surprise, for rumors had reached us prior to the hearings before the rules infraction committee that certain individuals were out to get Utah," said Dr. A. Ray Olpin, president of the university.

Dr. Olpin denied that Utah paid the transportation for the student, and said the athlete involved had denied being paid for work he didn't do, or getting transportation money from anyone.

"We are in no position to challenge the action of (the) NCAA,"

Utah Knocked Out by Ruling From NCAA

By JIM HACKLEMAN

All of a sudden, Utah got knocked out of a shot at its fourth straight NCAA post-season basketball title tournament by very likely the only outfit capable of doing the job—the NCAA itself.

Utah got hit with a one-year probation Thursday on charges of giving illegal financial aid to a basketball player, meaning some club other than Jack Gardner's Utahs will be representing the Sky-line Conference in the annual NCAA extravaganza.

Undaunted by the penalty, national scoring leader Billy McGill and his teammates swept to their 12th victory in 14 starts Thursday night by trouncing Denver, 96-70. The hot-handed McGill netted 42 points, pushing his per game average to a gaudy 37.5 and breaking the Denver field-house record of 39 set by Vince Boryla of Denver 13 years ago.

Duke's Blue Devils (10-2), rated 10th nationally, won a scorching 100-70 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, 104-96. Jim Mullins counted 14 of the Blue Devils' first 20 points and wound up with 30, while Art Heyman added 28. Jim Brennan scored 26 for Clemson and Tommy Mahafey totaled 22.

Wichita (12-3), ran off from Drake 91-61. Larry Van Erman and Gene Wiley collected 18 points apiece on the home court for the Wheatshockers, one of the Missouri Valley Conference's big three. They are tied with Cincinnati for second place at 3-1, behind Bradley's 2-0.

Houston (11-3) enhanced its reputation as the Southwest's top independent by beating Tulsa 69-61. Arizona State University (10-3) ran its Border Conference record to a perfect 3-0 and ended Texas Western's winning string at eight games, 62-55.

New Mexico State, also penalized by the NCAA Thursday with a 3-year probation for various infractions, cut down Arizona 68-55. Florida evened its season series with intrastate rival Miami at one apiece, 74-62, and Boston College trounced Boston University, 77-70.

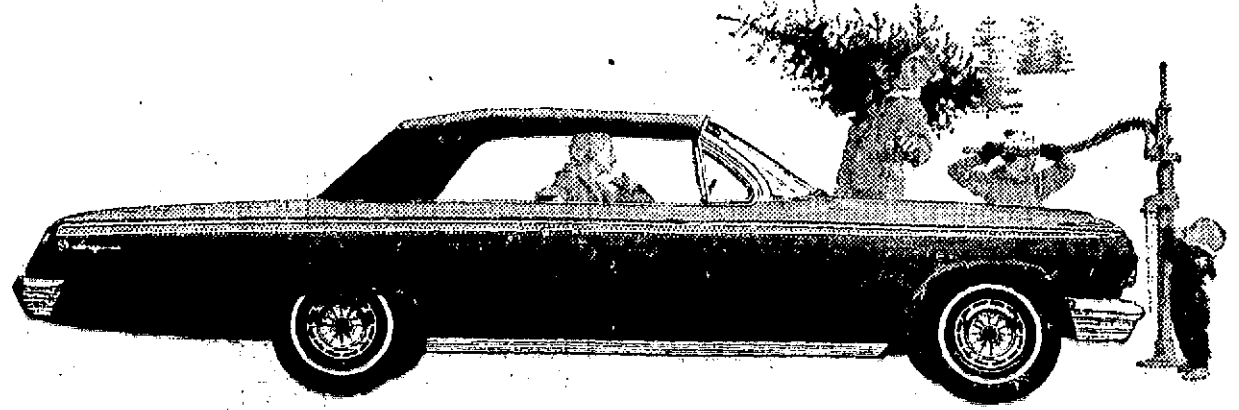

average. Tied with Allen for eighth place is Tom Nelson of Azusa, Calif. Allen has 109 field goals and 82 free throws for 300 points in 11 games.
